The Nairobi Journal of Literature

Submitted by literature on Tue, 2014-06-17 13:33

Editors:

The Nairobi Journal of LITERATURE

The Journal of the Department of Literature

University of Nairobi

Number 7, (July, 2013)

Divergence and Convergence in Literature

The Nairobi Journal of Literature

The Journal of the Department of Literature

University of Nairobi

ISSN 1814-1706

Key Title: The Nairobi Journal of Literature

Abbreviated Key Title: Nairobi j. lit.

Editorial Committee

Henry Indangasi

Anna Petkova-Mwangi
Contents

From the Editor's Desk: Anna Petkova-Mwangi ii

Echoes of Dialogue in African and Korean Oral Literatures: Peter Wasamba. 1

The Pained Face in the Cracked Mirror: Postcolonial African Identity in the Form of Okot p’Bitek’s Song of Ocol: Tom Michael Mboya. 13

The Gothic Novel as an Avenue in Disguise for Political Protest: A Fresh Look at the Gothic from Its Origins to Its Appearance in Kenya: Anna Petkova-Mwangi 24

Disavowing Conventions and Proclaiming Convictions in Contemporary Kenyan Poetry: Doseline Kiguru & Tom Odhiambo. 55

The New Fugard: A Reading of My Children! My Africa!: Chinyelu F. Ojukwu. 69

The Discourse of Alienation in Kiswahili Poetry: A Re-Analysis of Muyaka wa Muhaji’s Poetry: John
Hamu Habwe. 81

Our Second Homecoming: Voices from African Women: Wanjiku Mukabi Kabira. 91

Gender Perspectives in Selected English and Kiswahili Short Stories: Rayya Timmamy. 109

Defining the Self through Autobiography: Saga McOdongo's Deadly Money Maker: Jennifer Muchiri. 120

Navigating Life through Narrative: Analysis of Selected Urban Refugee Children's Narratives: Miriam Maranga-Musonye. 133

Content and Value in Kenyan Theatre for Educational Institutions: A Critical Review of the Kenya Schools and Colleges Drama Festival: Simon Peter Otieno. 143

Contributors. 155

Source URL: https://literature.uonbi.ac.ke/node/1180

Links:
[1] mailto:literature@uonbi.ac.ke